Dear Jim, re Lane/Sprague

Art Kevin told me today that Freed claims Lane got Sprague his job, that he was sent to interview him (which I now recall having hear before), and that his raves after that interview resulted in the hiring of Sprague,

I thought this interesting enough to inform one of my friends of the most extreme of the right.

I'll be informing more.

Actually, it is not at all improbable and probably explains what we ~~have~~ have not had explained.

Or, rationally, explained to ourselves.

If as I expect I speak to Ben later I think he may be interested. And that if he does a story the Devines of the committee will be.

Who knows, if nobody else gets interested maybe even Ben Bradlee could be?

Best,
